

Babe

Pack Life is so happy to introduce Babe, a 9 years' "young" Catahoula Cur Mix, who has had a sad turn of events during what should be her golden years. Babe was devoted to a human of her very own throughout her life but has lost that person and the only home she's known due to unfortunate circumstances beyond her control. This quiet old girl found herself in a shelter...a very scary place for her...with no idea what had happened to her person, or her world, and not able to adjust to the drastic changes in her life. Babe is very affectionate and seeks interaction with people by gently leaning into legs or placing her head on a lap of a person. Because of what's happened in her life recently, Babe has some separation anxiety that she's working through in her foster home.

She's solidly housetrained and has excellent house manners—she sits on command and politely offers a paw—but does not do well in a crate. Babe gets along with other dogs and loves to please people. However, Babe was apparently in a small family, so a chaotic, noisy environment makes her uncomfortable and very small children make her nervous. We're eager to see all the skills this super smart girl has as she becomes more comfortable in her foster home and begins to trust that her shelter days are behind her. This lovely soul deserves a happy ending to for her story.

Look at these gorgeous blue eyes!
